LETTER FROM THE PRESIDENT AND TOUR OF KITCHENS CHAIR

Dear Friends and Patrons,

Welcome to The Junior League of Atlanta, Inc.'s 20th Annual Tour of Kitchens! An Atlanta springtime tradition, the Tour of Kitchens has raised more than $1.9 million over the last two decades to advance our mission of promoting volunteerism, developing the potential of our members, and improving our community. As we celebrate 20 memorable years of the Tour of Kitchens, we would like to express our sincere gratitude for the generous support of guest kitchen designers, homeowners, corporate sponsors, volunteers, and Tour attendees.

Throughout the years, the women of the Junior League of Atlanta (JLA) have strategically linked vision, social capital and trained action to address community challenges. This year, as we mark 100 years of service, the JLA is an organization of over 3,500 members serving more than 75,000 volunteer hours to support the same vital mission. The JLA believes that the collective power of diverse women, joined together to identify unmet needs and forge effective coalitions, can dramatically improve the lives of at-risk women and children in our community. Your support of the JLA's Tour of Kitchens and associated Toast of the Tour event allows us to continue transformational change throughout the Atlanta area and carry our legacy of service into the next century.

To launch the 20th Annual Tour of Kitchens, hundreds of guests attended Pour Before the Tour in November 2016. Thanks to the generosity of our host and sponsor, Builder Specialties, Inc., the event was a resounding success. We invite you to the Toast of the Tour, the official kick-off party for Tour of Kitchens, which will be held at Roche Bobois on March 18, 2017. Guests will be treated to delicious food and cocktails, live entertainment and a premier silent auction. This hallmark event celebrates those involved with the Tour and is sure to delight!

Finally, we invite you to attend the Tour of Kitchens on March 25 & 26, 2017. This two-day self-guided tour features the vision and artistry of 14 prominent kitchen designers, including culinary and event demonstrations from the city's leading chefs and companies. For 20 years, Atlanta Homes & Lifestyles magazine and Brad Hanner have partnered with the JLA to make the Tour of Kitchens a success. We are grateful for their continued commitment to the JLA and look forward to celebrating this once in a lifetime event with you all.

Your patronage of the Tour of Kitchens empowers our members to continue their "Legacy of Proven Leadership" into our next century of service. We look forward to seeing you on this year's Tour!

Warmly,

Deanna Anderson 2016-2017 President

Using Eden's expertise via custom installations, workshops, and consultations, people are always matched with the perfect plant partner.

KING OF POPS

Summertime, smiles, and Southern culture on a stick — we're King of Pops. Founded in 2010, we exist to create unexpected moments of happiness. Boasting flavors like Chocolate Sea Salt, Raspberry Lime, Banana Puddin', or Pineapple Habanero, our team of 100 or so passionate people is empowered and excited to thoughtfully do what it takes to make any experience special. We scour the South for sustainable fruits and sourceable farmers for our five locally focused kitchens. Inspired by two brothers who started with a single pushcart on a street corner in Atlanta, we chop, mash, freeze, and ship thousands of artisanal popsicles a day. Today we're a lot bigger but not different. Check out our free weekly yoga classes that draw hundreds, drop by one of our carts, suggest our 500th flavor, or bring us to your next event. Visit us at www.KingofPops.com.

LENOX CUPCAKES

Lenox Cupcakes was founded with a deep and abiding love for cupcakes. The company began its initial operations in 2008 from a home kitchen (on Lenox Road, hence the name) and shortly thereafter, a commercial kitchen. Since then, we have settled into our licensed bakery in Chamblee's Antique Row. We are proud to have a loyal fan base, as well as corporate clients, including AT&T, Coca-Cola, CNN, Google, Microsoft, Saks Fifth Avenue, and Wells Fargo. Our gourmet cupcakes are baked in small batches using the finest ingredients: Valrhona cocoa powder, Callebaut chocolate, pure Madagascar bourbon vanilla, European sweet cream butter, and gourmet chocolate decorations. To ensure the freshest taste, our products are baked fresh daily, using locally sourced dairy and produce. Each item is lovingly handcrafted from scratch, using family recipes, and contains no preservatives or trans fats.

PRESERVING PLACE

Preserving Place is a unique farm to store retail concept focusing on food preservation and preserving our Southern sense of place. Our state of the art commercial kitchen is used to make small batch, hand-made jams, pickles, and condiments, as well as a private culinary school, teaching students how to cook and put up their own food at home. In classes, students cook hands on in an environment of personal attention from the instructor. Our versatile space is a great place for private events, particularly those involving cooking. We support other local and regional artisans by carrying their food or craft items in our store. Preserving Place aims to be Atlanta's one-stop shop for all home food preservation supplies, such as the complete line of Ball Mason jars and products for hot water bath and pressure canning; fermentation supplies, such as crocks, kraut mallets, and bowls for kraut-making; cheese-making supplies; and a curated selection of books with good advice on food preservation as well as Southern cookbooks.

SOUTHERN CRUST

Southern Crust can handle any event, from a backyard soiree to a full-blown wedding, with style and great taste. Not an ordinary kitchen, our truck is outfitted with a pizza oven and stocked with seasonal ingredients. Menus are designed to take advantage of the best produce available, treating your guests to delicious but relaxed fare in a setting of your choice. Southern Crust is flexible, full-service, and fun — a great partner for your next event.

The original kitchen in this wonderful home was divided into two spaces with French doors out to the driveway that broke up the flow. The original cooking area did not allow our client to interact with his guests while preparing dinners. Home Forge redesigned the space to place a new island with cooking area facing the keeping room and the guests. We closed the French doors and removed a wing wall to unify and expand the kitchen space. Finally, we added a wet bar with lighted onyx backsplash.

The result is a larger, useful kitchen space that brings our host and his guests closer together. The wet bar has a second dishwasher to handle a whole party of glasses. A bar overhang on the island brings guests into the action at the cooktop. The keeping room is now integrated with the kitchen for comfortable entertaining.

ABOUT THE KITCHEN

Maintaining original character was priority for the owners of this midcentury modern gem. This kitchen was part of a larger whole home renovation and needed to be efficient and intriguing. The cabinet fronts were designed with a pattern reminiscent of the original pegboard fronts. Vibrant orange and white, an homage to midcentury modern color, were introduced to break up the earthy palette surrounding the space. White Corian countertops and integral sink bring a sleek feel and the easy clean-up the clients desired. A circular walnut cutting board was inset into the Corian, creating a top for island seating. Miele, Sub-Zero, and Faber appliances were selected for their sleek modern feel and seamless integration. A freestanding wall conceals a coffee bar, pantry, and refrigerator. Handmade backsplash tiles compliment original tiles in the family room. Original light fixtures were repurposed to complete the dining room, which features a midcentury modern hutch given to the clients by the original homeowner.

After living in their 1961 ranch-style home for several years, the owners decided it was finally time to update and remodel. What was once a large dining room and very small, closed-off kitchen has now been transformed into a well-proportioned kitchen that flows into the newly converted dining room and living space. The homeowners wanted an elegant, contemporary kitchen in which two cooks could work simultaneously, while also allowing for ample entertaining space and seating for guests. They also wanted to enhance the views of the Japanese garden with windows running the length of the kitchen, dining, and family rooms.

The new kitchen was designed with custom cabinetry that utilizes every inch of space possible. The hassle-free modern design aesthetic is a great match for this kitchen by offering spare and efficient design details, from the neutral palette and mid-century furnishings to smart storage, all of which work together to create the feeling of openness.

ABOUT THE KITCHEN

This new home boasts the perfect layout for an active family that loves to cook and entertain. The spacious living area integrates the kitchen, living room, and breakfast nook. The homeowners' passions guided the planning of the storage and functionality for this kitchen featuring dual islands. Buffet-style meals set up on the second island make for smooth flow of guests while entertaining. The stained oak island provides texture and contrast to the white perimeter cabinets. Polished White Carrara Marble countertops integrate both of the cabinet finishes and tie in with the marble backsplash. The large mantle-style hood creates a visual focal point. The range wall is fully equipped for any size gathering with commercial grade appliances. The additions of dark stained ceiling beams add architectural interest and tie the kitchen and family rooms together. The steel I-beams and exaggerated high ceilings were the pre-designed conditions that provided inspiration for this modern farmhouse kitchen design. The emphasis is on the materials themselves and how they connect together. There is careful consideration to door style and appliances, but the main focus in the kitchen is on color, textures, light, and how to best manipulate the overall human experience of the three dimensional space. Mission accomplished.

ABOUT THE KITCHEN

This home, and particularly this kitchen, is a true reflection of the homeowners' fine taste and love of travel, as well as the beauty that can come from the integration of both old and new. Many items throughout the house were imported from Europe. The homeowners went to great lengths to select and incorporate pieces from centuries past to live harmoniously alongside a more modern and sleek backdrop. In this home, every room has a soul and every element has a story. The kitchen is no exception with its crisp frameless white Shaker cabinets; professional appliances; and marble accents on the hood, backsplash, and perimeter countertops. Textural accents were added in the form of plaster walls, a pewter countertop on the island, and French limestone on the floors. The kitchen sits as the true heart of the home and is layered with interest, history, and functionality to enhance the way this family lives and entertains.

The couple admired this city property that felt like an escape to a tranquil vacation paradise. They wanted the house to resemble a Virginia horse farm, complete with a beautiful overlook on a stocked pond. They engaged Tim Adams as the architect to design this beautiful, new shingle-style country house on the polo fields in Atlanta.

Their house needed to suit the needs of a blended family that loves to entertain. With five children, even cooking for the family is like a dinner party! The large island has flexible seating for five. The walk-in pantry is concealed by a lovely door that integrates beautifully with the cabinetry. To show the view, the entire back wall of the house is composed of tall windows. The island's position allows Mom to see the pool and play area just beyond the kitchen. The kitchen becomes the hub of the home with a great space for prepping, flower arranging, serving a buffet, and doing homework.

ECLIPSE DI LUNA

Executive Chef Shan Holler graduated from Le Cordon Bleu. During his studies, he interned at Vincent's, one of the top five French restaurants in the country. Shan relocated to Atlanta in 2004 to accept the position as head chef of Seasons de Provence and later became the executive chef at City Grill. Wanting to expand on his talent and abilities, Shan took a step back to immerse himself into the flavors of Spanish and Mediterranean cuisine, becoming the sous chef at Eclipse di Luna in 2008. Shortly thereafter, Shan proved to be extremely skillful in the kitchen and was appointed to executive chef over both Eclipse di Luna locations. In his free time, he enjoys spending time with friends and family.

PEACHDISH

Today, a farmer can drop off produce at the PeachDish warehouse Monday morning, and it's packed in boxes to go out that afternoon. PeachDish customers come from all over the United States and to the table with all different cooking backgrounds. Some are drawn to PeachDish for the convenience. Others want to learn how to cook. UMI SUSHI

Located in Atlanta's bustling Buckhead neighborhood, Umi unites classic along with modern Japanese flavors in a sophisticated, contemporary setting. Designed by Atlanta artist and designer Todd Murphy, the interior is elegant, yet simple with organic, earthy elements closely reflecting the pure and clean qualities of Asian fare. Chef Fuyuhiko Ito's menu showcases the freshest fish from the world's finest markets and highest quality ingredients available. Hot items such as baked lobster tempura, sautéed foie gras and black cod miso and a selection of "aburi" or slightly cooked sushi-grade fish accompany an assortment of starters, soups, salads, sashimi, nigiri and specialty house and traditional rolls. The diverse beverage list includes a fine selection of exclusive craft sake, handmade cocktails, premium wine and beer and pressed, artisan roasted Lamill coffee.

VINTAGE FROZEN CUSTARD

Vintage Frozen Custard was born in 2012 and is the first frozen custard food truck in Atlanta, Georgia. The response to our premium frozen custard was overwhelming and led to the 2014 opening of a stand-alone, old-fashioned ice cream parlor at 1021 Howell Mill Road in Atlanta. Frozen custard is a gourmet ice cream that originated in Coney Island, New York as a carnival treat around 1919. The taste of frozen custard has a deliciously distinct and unforgettable flavor. Our frozen custard contains carefully sourced cream with other natural ingredients. Vintage Frozen Custard's premium frozen custard is made fresh daily--sometimes several times each day--and is served at the ideal temperature to please your palate. Our old-fashioned custard is continuously fed into a freezing barrel and the mix is rapidly frozen with small ice crystals and very little air. This creates frozen custard that is velvety smooth with a rich flavor.

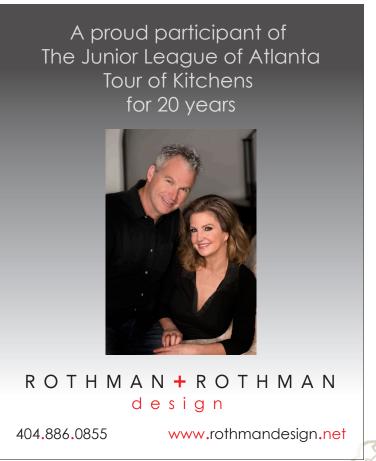

YONAH MOUNTAIN VINEYARDS

Yonah Mountain Vineyards is a two-hundred acre family winery located on the Southeastern base of iconic Yonah Mountain. Making world class wines and enjoying the process is our ultimate goal. Rolling hills and sandy soil are the perfect setting for our twenty planted acres of Sauvignon Blanc, Chardonnay, Petit Manseng, Cabernet Sauvignon, Merlot, Cabernet Franc, Malbec, and Petit Verdot.

This classic architectural kitchen was the result of a collaboration between Morgan Creek and Karen Ferguson of Harrison Design along with some essential contribution from a spirited homeowner. The kitchen sits at one end of a large family room with large heart pine beams and a slightly rustic fireplace. Floor to ceiling cabinets on the left and right walls in Benjamin Moore Decorator White, contrasting with the dark soapstone countertops, allow the kitchen cabinets to blend into the horizontal plank walls of the room rather than make a separate statement. Earlier versions of the design had upper cabinets along the back wall, but the final version keeps the metal range hood, beautifully crafted by Calhoun Metalworks of hammered copper with solid copper bands, by itself on the plank wall. This feature, along with the large windows on the right and the island with its distinctive heart pine framework that echoes the character of the beams, gives the kitchen a classic simplicity we enjoy.

ABOUT THE KITCHEN

This home has a wonderful collection of primitive antiques but like many homes with family collections, the dark kitchen and shut-off family room were cluttered and did not serve well to display the treasures. The goal of this project was to create a larger, light-filled space that would be casual enough for everyday living yet comfortable for traditional entertaining. We kept a portion of the existing wall to maintain a feeling of distinct spaces, yet the rooms now work harmoniously together. The centerpiece of the new kitchen is a grand island, hand-crafted of distressed maple cabinetry with turned furniture-like legs and finished in a blue crackle glaze. The top is solid cherry, which was inspired by the adjacent antique dining room table. There are shelves for the homeowners' many cookbooks and bar stools for entertaining. The fireplace wall was replaced with wall-to-wall furniture-grade cabinetry. The clients thrive on order and simplicity. They are delighted now that everything has a place, it is easy to cook and entertain, and they can relax in the new space.

These homeowners wanted a kitchen that was as modern and as interesting as their incredible art collection. Working with interior designer Kim Zimmerman, we came up with the idea to do an all-white kitchen with two islands, one of which was the customary prep island and the other an eating island raised to standard-counter height, both with white glass countertops. The prep island holds two dishwashers and the innovative Social Corner sink. We reused their massive commercial range and installed a lacquer hood centered between marble slabs above. To the right of the hood, floor-to-ceiling cabinets house a breakfast garage with refrigerator drawers below; on the left side, the same cabinetry provides storage for everyday dishes. The combined range and hood create visual weight, matched only by the Hummer of a refrigerator on an adjacent wall — the Sub-Zero Pro 48 — that's flanked by tall cabinets and collectively framed with stainless steel.

ABOUT THE KITCHEN

This custom kitchen reconciles multiple conflicting design imperatives: professional-caliber function, family comfort, generous storage, refined materials, and classical styling. First and foremost a cook's kitchen, the space is outfitted with strategically placed restaurant-quality appliances, fixtures, and storage. Yet the design also provides continuity with the elegance and comfort of the home's interior architecture. It is, after all, not only a place for food preparation but a hub for day-to-day family interactions. A subtle palette, high-touch materials, and meticulous craftsmanship ensure generations of enjoyment and use.

ABOUT THE KITCHEN

The kitchen renovation was part of a whole house renovation. The entire floor was gutted. walls removed, and the space was reconfigured to accommodate a larger kitchen, bar, and breakfast eating area as well as open the space to the rest of the home. Skylights and two walls of windows create a beautiful light-filled backdrop with soft finishes throughout the kitchen. These details balance the owners eclectic taste while highlighting their extensive art and modern classic furniture collection. The design was based on the desire to create a central hub in the house and foster a passion for cooking and entertaining. Careful attention was placed on the position of the cooktop to allow the everyday meal prep to always be towards the family and household action. A discrete hood gently hugs the ceiling and does not detract from the conversation or view. Other kitchen features include dual sinks and dishwashers and a breakfast pantry hidden behind pocket doors. The homeowner is also an amateur beer brewer. Custom design beer taps peek out of the wall dispensing home-brew and sparkling water.
